A problem that I had

Once a friend owed me money, more or less 700 pesos, I sold him a skateboard, the problem is that he hadn't money at the moment so I told him he could pay me the next month, but the big deal is that 4 months pass before he pays me, at the beginning I only told him every week but at the end we argue about when he is going to pay me, the problem is that I react so rude I know that 4months happened before he pay me but my reaction wasn't the correct one

How to be assertive

In that moment I could talk with my friend and ask him why he didn't pay me at the time, he had economic problems in that moment and I didn't know it, and I feel a bad person for don't talk with him and solve the problem in a pacific way
